But only to the first 150 who reply

Body Copy

Dear Reader,

Congress and big corporations want to keep this quiet. But we are on the brink of a massive attack that would bring our way of life to a screeching halt.

Top national security experts call this attack "inevitable", saying it will "paralyze the nation."

Even more troubling, despite our powerful military and a leader willing to fight, there is nothing we can do to defend ourselves.

Here's what experts with inside information say about such an attack:

"Millions would die within the first week" -- Former Speaker of the House Newt Gingrich

"When such an attack occurs, make no mistake, there will be major loss of life and serious crippling of National security capabilities" -- George Cotter, former Chief Scientist of the National Security Agency

"For the record, if we were attacked, we would lose" -- Mike McConnell, former Director of National Intelligence

Not only are we vulnerable, we now have an enemy with the ability and motive to carry out this attack.

It's an enemy hell-bent on war with America. Determined to take our place as the world's #1 superpower. (And no, it's not Russia.)

If you want to survive this attack, then read every word of this letter carefully. Because what you discover today may very well save your life and the lives of those you love.

Warning: What you are about to read is highly controversial

In a moment, I'll lay out all the facts that point to a war unlike anything we've ever seen. So you can decide for yourself how real this threat is and what your response will be.

I'll even share how you can get over $440 worth of advanced survival and self-defense training for free. So you can protect your loved ones when riots, martial law, and gang violence become an everyday occurrence across America.

I can't promise you'll come out unharmed. But it's the best possible chance of emerging from the crisis. So you can help rebuild America into the great country it once was. And ensure your children and grandchildren grow up in a free, safe society.

Let me quickly introduce myself, then share what this threat is, who's behind it, and the surprising reason why we're powerless to stop it.

Then, show you exactly what you can need to survive and rebuild America.

CIA Insights That Can Save Your Life

My name is Jason Hanson. I'm an ex-CIA officer and author of the New York Times bestseller Spy Secrets That Can Save Your Life.

Me on Fox & Friends, and the Exceptional Performance Award I won from the CIA in 2008

Ever since I was a boy scout, I've had a passion for survival and personal protection.

It's what drove me to join the CIA and spend nearly a decade serving our great nation. When I retired, I began teaching little-known spy secrets to everyday Americans like you. To help people avoid becoming a victim of muggers, home invaders, economic collapse, cyber criminals and more.

You may have seen me on Shark Tank, Fox & Friends, Good Morning America, or one of dozens of other major news programs. Or maybe you heard about the survival workshops I've been running since 2010, which cost up to $1,500 per ticket.

But today, I need to warn you about a crisis sure to cause a massive spike in violent crime all across the nation. Along with rampant disease, starvation, and death.

I was skeptical of this threat at first. After all, we have the most powerful military in the world. Who would be stupid enough to attack us?

But my connections inside the CIA, FBI, and NSA have been warning me that this threat is very real.

Scott Borg, Director of the US Cyber Consequences Unit, said this about the attack.

"It's equivalent to 40 to 50 large hurricanes striking all at once...It's greater economic damage than any modern economy ever suffered... It's greater than the Great Depression. It's greater than the damage we did with strategic bombing on Germany in World War II."

When I started to look closer and connect the dots, it became crystal clear how much trouble we are in.

Simply put, we are on the brink of the greatest tragedy this nation has ever faced. Even if the government invested all its resources in protecting this "soft spot" in our national defense, it would be too late.

Top experts believe one enemy is already in position to destroy America's power grid. Leaving us with no light, heat, internet, plumbing, refrigeration, banking, water or electricity for months -- even a year.

I'll show you how that's possible in just a moment.

But first, it's important to know exactly how this attack will affect the lives of you and your family.

A Cyber Pearl Harbor

A 2008 congressional report says without power, only one in ten Americans would survive a nationwide blackout within a year. The rest dying from "starvation, disease, and societal breakdown."

Those numbers are shocking at first but it's easy to understand why. Most Americans are coddled and dependent on technology. And few have any real survival skills.

And the amount of violent crime our nation faces already is staggering.

Just look at Berkley College, where students smashed ATMs, lit trash cans on fire, and threw Molotov cocktails around the city because a conservative came to speak at their school.

Or the hordes of insane shoppers who invade stores every Black Friday. Trampling and even killing one another for the chance to save a few bucks on a TV.

In the parking lot of a Wal-Mart in San Antonio, an innocent woman was being attacked in her car during Black Friday. A good samaritan tried to intervene and the attacker shot him dead. A stray bullet also hit another woman, who had to be rushed to the hospital.

All this happening in a world where clean water and food is easy to come by. How do you think people will react when their way of life has been ripped away from them? And their very survival is on the line?

Towns across America may look like this in the next 12 months

We are on the brink of a catastrophe never before seen. Where gang violence, theft, murder, rape, and riots could become the new “normal” -- with no police around to stop it.

It will be up to you to keep yourself and your loved ones protected. If you're going to be the 1 in 10 who survive, it's critical you start preparing for what's coming as soon as possible. Before it's too late.

Because according to top national security experts, there is little we can do to prevent it.

Why America is Powerless against this attack

In 2007, the Idaho National Laboratory did an experiment to see if it was possible for hackers to physically destroy a major power generator.

They hired experts and challenged them to hack past their defenses and see if they could take control of the machine.

Sure enough, they did. They overrode the programming and forced the generators circuit breakers to rapidly open and close out of phase until it exploded.

Actual footage of the generator exploding, which you can watch on Youtube

Later, when asked if hackers could lead a coordinated attack and knock out our entire power grid, former secretary of National Security, Janet Napolitano, said the odds were “Very high. 80%, 90%... very, very high.”

If hackers destroyed our generators, we would likely be without power a long time. Former Director of the National Security Agency, General Keith Alexander, suggest that if the transformers were taken out it would take “over a year” to replace them.

Why so long?

For starters, these massive 500,000 pound machines are not easy to transport. It takes a special freight car to lug them around. And some of the railways that brought the original transformers out no longer exist!

And while there are spares laying around, each transformer is custom made for its area. You can't simply plug a new one in and be back to business as usual.

Neither our government is nor the electrical industry is prepared to bounce back from such an attack.

Just look at this damning quote from Craig Fugate, a former administrator for the Federal Emergency Management Agency, when talking of how FEMA would respond to this attack:

“Most people expect... that somehow we have enough tools in the tool chest to get the power back on quickly. The answer is no.”

So why can't America, with all our money, power, and technological advancements, prevent such an attack?

Because of corporate greed and corrupt politicians.

The energy grid isn't controlled by the government. It's privately owned by hundreds of different companies.

The smaller companies simply don't have the funds for high-end cyber security. And the larger companies don't want to cut into their profits. They're more focused on quarterly returns and stock evaluation than national security.

Even if they did have the money, it's doubtful it would help. Cyber attacks have always been one step ahead of the defenses.

Just look at the big banks. JP Morgan invested $200 million in cyber security in 2014. That same year, they experienced a massive attack that gave hackers access to the name, phone numbers, and email of over 83 million people who were in their system.

Even the government is terrorized time and again.

In 2009, the Chinese got access to the Defense Department's $300 billion Joint Strike Fighter project. Two years later, 24,000 files were stolen straight out from under the Pentagon's nose!

The examples go on and on. And those are only the ones made public.

Don't forget, when the government or big businesses are hacked, they want to keep it quiet.

Energy companies could lose millions by letting us know they've been compromised. And top government officials could look incompetent and lose their jobs.

This is why you don't hear much about it. Those on the inside want to keep their jobs -- and exorbitant salaries.

And if you think the government will help you, you're in for a rude awakening.

National security experts have been screaming about this threat for years. And what has congress done to protect us?

Nothing.

For example, in 2010, top officials including former Secretary of Defense James Schlesinger and former CIA Directors John Deutch and James Woolsey, wrote a private letter to the House Committee on Energy and Commerce. It said:

“The grid is extremely vulnerable to disruption by a cyber or other attack. The consequences of a large-scale attack on the US grid would be catastrophic for our national security.”

Want to know what happened to their proposed legislation for fixing the problem?

It's been stuck in the U.S. senate for 7 years!

Congress, as usual, can't put petty differences aside to take care of the important issues.

We've seen this cycle before. When top experts warned of radical Islamic terror attacks after the attempted World Trade Center bombing in 1994, congress did nothing. Seven years later, we experienced the worst terror attack in our nation's history.

In early 2008, experts warned against a housing market collapse. They too were ignored and even ridiculed -- until it happened. And $22 trillion vanished from our economy.

I could go on and on. Our government is basically the neighbor who won't buy a fire extinguisher until after his house catches fire.

But even if they decided to throw all their resources into defending our grid, it's likely too late. Because our enemies are already inside our system.

Former Chief Scientist at the National Security Agency, George Cotter, strongly believes one enemy, in particular, is already inside our system “mapping its vulnerabilities”.

It's the same enemy that, if you look closely at their recent actions, are moving towards war with the US.

They hate our way of life and are taking steps to replace us as the world's #1 superpower.

I'm talking of course about China.

“Yes, China can shut down our power grid... it is only a matter of when, not if, we are going to see something dramatic”

-- Michael Rogers, Head of NSA and Cyber Command

For years, we've known China has had an army of “cyber warriors.”

A classified FBI report that was leaked years ago said China had 180,000 cyberspies. Today, the number is likely much larger. In the report, agents said:

“[China] poses the largest single threat to the United States for cyberterrorism and has the potential to destroy vital infrastructure, interrupt banking and commerce, and compromise sensitive military and defense databases.”

China has hundreds of thousands of “cyber warriors” who
Steal our military and business secrets every single day

Until now, nobody's been that worried about a Chinese attack. They make too much money off us and wouldn't want to mess that up, right?

Well, China has bigger dreams than making a few bucks off us. They want to replace us as the world's superpower. They want to see their anti-democratic, anti-free market and anti-free speech way of life to reign over the world.

Don't take my word for it. Look at what of top Chinese officials have been saying and doing. Then decide for yourself.

The China Dream: To Topple America And Become The World's #1 Superpower

In 2009, a colonel in the Chinese army wrote a manifesto outlining China's rise to power. He called this plan The China Dream. In it, he states:

“China’s grand goal in the 21st century is to become the world’s #1 power”

Chinese President Xi Jinping has since gone on record promising to make “The China Dream” a reality.

After taking office in 2013, The New York Times reported that Xi Jinping has even quietly told military officials, “get ready to fight and win wars”.

China’s lust for power is nothing new. But there’s a deeper problem that was only recently brought to light.

Michael Pillsbury, a former high-ranking government official who won the CIA’s Exceptional Performance Award for uncovering China’s “hidden agenda”, believes we have far more to fear from the Chinese than anyone realizes.

After talking to Chinese defectors and pouring over previously unreleased documents, he found that top Chinese leaders hold a deep hatred for America. They see us as a “villain” who’s oppressed them for decades.

In his recent book, The Hundred Year Marathon: China’s Secret Strategy to Replace America as the Global Superpower, Pillsbury says:

“In short, Chinese leaders believe America has tried to dominate China for 150 years, and China’s plan is to do everything possible to dominate us instead.”

According to Pillsbury, our war with China is already underway!

He warns that the Chinese government has been playing our politicians like a fiddle. Tricking them into thinking their only interest is building their economy. When really, they despise our way of life and want to seize our power for themselves.

The closer you look at what’s coming out of China, the clearer it becomes that they are gearing up for war with America.

For example, after Donald Trump was elected, the official Chinese Military website declared that the likelihood of war with the US has become “a practical reality”.

And China’s actions reflect this.

Shortly after issuing that statement, the Chinese navy ship captured a US drone right in front of our unarmed troops. Then refused to return it.

They’ve also reportedly moved missiles to the northeast border of the Heilongjiang province, within striking distance of the US.

They’ve even claimed territories from neighboring countries that don’t belong to them. Including islands around Vietnam, Malaysia, Philippines, and land owned by of our strongest allies, Japan.

When Defense Secretary James Mattis went to Japan to declare our support for our allies, China responded by sending warships to the island days later. The Global Times, a newspaper run under the close eye of the Chinese Communist Party, then issued this statement:

If Trump's diplomatic team shapes future Sino-US ties as it is doing now, the two sides had better prepare for a military clash.

The China threat is real. Even before all these events occurred, White House Chief Strategist Steve Bannon said, “We’re going to war in the South China Sea in the next 5-10 years...There’s no doubt about that”.

Trump realizes this too. Why do you think he poured so much money ($54 billion more) into our defense budget and loaded his cabinet with military generals?

When you look at the big picture, the steps China has been taking mirror what Hitler did as he geared up for World War II.

1. They both created a manifesto outlining their rise to power
2. They both claimed lands that don’t belong to them
3. They both began breaking more and more peace agreements

In September 2015, the Chinese and US promised to end cyber espionage. How did that go?

A company that manages internet breaches, FireEye, investigated the matter. Here’s what they found:

“Between September 2015 and June 2016, we observed 13 active China-based groups conduct multiple instances of network compromise against corporations in the U.S”

Thirteen different groups! And keep in mind, any one of these groups can have thousands and thousands of hackers.

Despite promising to stop cyber crime, they've continued to steal military and business secrets. Even Coca-Cola had their business strategy stolen!

While negotiating a $2.4 billion purchase of a Chinese beverage company, Chinese hackers broke into Coca-cola's network and stole confidential files in an effort to gain insight into their negotiation strategy. As the BBC reports:

Hackers were able to spend a month operating undetected, logging commercially sensitive information.... [they] took emails and stole passwords to give themselves administrative privileges on the network."

China's cyberspies have cost the US hundreds of millions of dollar, tens of thousands of jobs, and put our national security at risk.

Of course, that's just a drop in the ocean compared to what would happen if they shut off our power.

They are in a position to do exactly that, have the motive, and there is nothing we can do to stop them.

So how will Americans survive?

Politicians don't have to worry. They have massive bunkers paid for by taxpayer dollars that will keep them and their families safe. And there are rich people with boats who have ex-Navy SEALs all set to take them to the Caribbean when a disaster like this goes down.

Bunkers built with taxpayer dollars will keep politicians safe but not us

But normal Americans like you and me will have nobody to count on. It's up to us to keep our loved ones safe.

To give you a leg up over the rest of the country, and give you and your loved ones the best chance of survival, I've packaged 9 of my most powerful survival trainings together for you.

I've even loaded them onto a USB drive which you can fill with other important documents (like passports and birth certificates.) That way, you can take vital information with you when mobs and riots get so bad you have no choice but to flee your home.

Free Gift! The Ultimate Blackout Survival Flash Drive

The Ultimate Blackout Survival Flash Drive is a free USB drive loaded with over $440 of world-class survival trainings.

It includes deadly firearm training, hand-to-hand combat and self-defense, disaster planning, and little-known ways to protect yourself from cyber threats.

It's a mini-library filled with life-saving information that will help you stay calm, in control, and safe while the rest of America is in a blind panic.

Here's a look at the 9 gifts you're getting absolutely free.

Free Gift #1: My Everyday Carry Gear Guide – 11 Items You Should ALWAYS Have On You ($19.95 value)

You never know when you're going to find yourself in a life-threatening situation. This report reveals the survival gear I carry daily to stay safe from attackers. - The best, most important firearm you've never heard of – few people have even shot one. It's so lightweight it feels like a toy, yet it's so powerful, reliable, and accurate the military relies on it (and so do some hunters)
- My favorite "spy" tool for escaping handcuffs, and a tiny, portable item for quietly passing through locked doors

Free gift #2: The Escape Bag Blueprint: 37 Items You Must Have to Survive a Crisis

This guide contains everything you need to know to build the ultimate escape bag. All 37 items are covered in detail (with over 60 pictures) including water, food, personal protection, shelter, clothing, fire, lighting, communication, tools, and several other items.

For instance, one of these items is a special tape used by the military to repair tanks, Hummer's and more. This tape has a thousand uses and is much better than duct tape, Gorilla tape, or any other type of tape for that matter.

I also reveal the full details of my Ultimate Fire Starting Kit, which contains 6 different ways to help you start a fire. Including a little-known product used by the government that can even start a fire in a nasty downpour.

And I show you the crucial items you need for shelter, lighting, and communication purposes. (There's a $13 pocket radio that's a must have for monitoring the airwaves during a disaster.)

- And much more

Free gift #4: Four “Escape and Survive” Videos That Can Save Your Life

This collection of 4 videos teaches the same life-saving techniques I've taught on shows like Dateline NBC and Fox News. Including:

The Secret to Escaping Duct Tape

Don't sit by helpless, tied and gagged, as a gang raids your home and supplies. This video will show you how to escape being duct taped within 2 seconds. No matter how old you are you'll be able to free yourself, so long as you do one critical thing with your arms...

Me teaching Andrea Canning, of Dateline NBC, how to escape from duct tape

If you're ever on a plane that needs to make an emergency landing, this video can help you walk away unharmed.

You'll discover where to sit, the "3 and 8" rule for when to be on high-alert, and how to avoid the most lethal part of a crash (Hint: it's not the impact, it's the smoke. And what you do in the first few seconds can determine if you survive or not.)

How to Become A Human Lie Detector

When things turn sour, you don't want to look like a fool and get tricked into helping someone who's secretly there to rob you. This video will show you how to look for "the freeze" to detect if someone is trying to deceive you.

Pocket Survival Gear

This video lays out the 3 tiers of survival gear everyone should have. Plus, the deadly (and super affordable) weapon you can easily hide in a place nobody will ever think to look.

Free gift #5: How to Protect Your Identity And Privacy Online

How to Protect Your Identity and Privacy

In this report, you'll discover some of the exact techniques I and others in the CIA and NSA use to protect our identities online.

You'll learn about the "Cyber Shield" only 10% of Americans have but is a must-use if you're ever on a shared network. (Otherwise, you may as well put your personal information up on a billboard.)

You've probably seen James Bond and Jason Bourne use their clothing and jackets as a weapon.

This isn't just a Hollywood trick. If you find yourself under attack and empty-handed, clothing can be more effective than your fists -- and a weapon your attacker never sees coming.

That's why I created a short training video that gives you a few quick tips on how to use clothing to defend yourself.

~Evan White, Rochester, NY

"I cannot say enough good things about the Personal Protection Alliance. The site is full of useful videos, gear reviews, briefings on current legal topics and much more."

~Dennis Pearson, San Diego, CA

Introducing the Personal Protection Alliance

The personal protection Alliance is a private organization I helped found a few years ago to give every freedom-loving American insider access to the most important safety and survival information on the planet.

It's an online membership site loaded with hundreds of books, reports, and videos for surviving in all kinds of crisis situations -- including mugging, riots, home invasion, natural disaster, and economic collapse.

The crowning jewel of the Personal Protection Alliance is the Jason Hanson Survival Letter. Which you can access through the membership site.

This newsletter is written by me and few of my friends in the Navy SEALs, CIA, and more. There is absolutely nothing like it.

The truth is, each issue is a "survival seminar in print" that gives you tips, secrets, and strategies to keep you better protected on a daily basis.

Here's a small sample of the incredibly valuable information you get every month in the Jason Hanson Survival Letter.

- How to build a Pocket Trauma Kit and why this should be in every American's home and vehicle. (This kit easily fits in your pocket and contains three pieces of gear that could save your life in a medical emergency.)
- How to protect your privacy both offline and online, including how to surf the Internet anonymously (using military encryption software), and the single best way to dispose of an old hard drive.
- The assets you can legally hide from the government, including the two best countries to open a foreign bank account that Uncle Sam will never know about.
- Hand to hand defense secrets to help you protect yourself against multiple attackers. (Anyone can use these simple moves even if you have zero martial arts experience.)
- How to make a Swedish fire torch in a survival situation. (It only requires one piece of wood and could be the difference between life and death in a winter survival emergency.)
- Food storage secrets to ensure you always have an entire month's supply of food at the very minimum. (This is the exact way I built up my family's year supply of food without breaking the bank.)
- Carjacking countermeasures and the most important thing you can do to prevent a carjacking in the first place.
- And much, much more...

While I write at least one article per issue, I also feature experts who I trust and respect to help you in other areas.

One regular contributor is Forest Hamilton, author of the bestselling book Think and Grow Rich Today.

With 18 years in the rare coin industry, he is my go-to source for investment advice (and early warnings economic collapse). In recent issues, he unloaded a barrage of cold-hard facts on what Trump's presidency meant for gold investors (hint: it's a great time to be a buyer.)

Then there's my good friend Javelin. That's not his real name, but as a former CIA-officer who still does clandestine operations around the world, I can't share his real name.

He's one of my top "inside sources" and agreed to share valuable information with our readers you won't get from the news.

With every issue, Javelin brings almost 40-years of CIA experience straight to your mailbox. And he often reveals clandestine international news and security threats most never know about.

There's nowhere else you can get this "foot on the ground" intelligence briefings delivered straight to your door. With vital information from former and current CIA operatives and even financial experts that keep you safe from both economic and societal collapse.

Special Bonuses For Personal Alliance Protection Members Only!

In addition to the Jason Hanson Survival Letter, all members of the Personal Protection Alliance get access to the password-protected members-only website which includes:

Bonus #1: Exclusive Survival Training Videos

Each month, I post a brand new training video. These videos cover shooting drills, new gear and gadgets, and other important topics such as unarmed combat techniques and how to survive an active shooter.

The trainings can go hand-and-hand with what you read in the newsletter. For example, one video you'll see teaches you a simple 3-step process to survive a "prison style" knife attack. This is the most common type of attack there is and after writing an article about it in the newsletter I made this video to show you the exact moves that'll keep you safe.

Bonus #2: Monthly Legal Briefing

My wife happens to be an attorney. She graduated magna cum laude in the top 10% of her class. Each month, she evaluates and breaks down a recent self-defense encounter. This one-page legal briefing covers the aspects of deadly force law to help you better understand when you're legally allowed to defend yourself and your family in this uncertain world.

Bonus #3: Defensive Pistol Targets

You'll get access to the 11 targets I use in the training videos. All you have to do is print them off from the members only site and take them with you to your local range to help you become a better shooter.

Bonus #4: Gear Reviews

Each month, you'll get an in-depth gear review whether it's a holster, knife, rifle, fire starter, or any other piece of gear that could save your life one day. In fact, I recently reviewed a unique solar kettle that most people don't even know exists and can ensure you have hot, clean water during a blackout.

Bonus #5: Personal protection alliance vault

I've been running this program since 2013. So you are about 50 issues behind on the Jason Hanson Newsletter. Not to mention, you already missed out on dozens of legal briefings, gear reviews, and training videos.

But when you join the Personal Protection Alliance today, you'll get access to all past material immediately.

The bottom line is, I can tell you with 100% certainty that taking your FREE trial membership of Personal Protection Alliance is the best way to keep your family safer in the months ahead.

After all, if you don't stay informed about the latest safety and survival secrets then you won't be properly prepared when you find yourself in an emergency situation... or when things truly get bad in this country.

Here's what you do next

Click the button below to claim your FREE Blackout Survival Flash Drive. It will arrive at your door in 1-3 weeks with all the reports and videos mentioned above (the 30-Day Urban Survival Guide, Home Defense Shotgun Training, etc.)

When you order the free drive, you'll automatically get access to a free 14-day trial of the Personal Protection Alliance.

That means you don't have to wait for the flash drive to arrive to start preparing for the upcoming blackout. You'll have immediate online access to dozens of training videos, past newsletters, gear reviews, targets and more.

All you pay today is $4.95 for shipping and handling for the flash drive

Most people who experience the 14-day trial of the Personal Protection Alliance find it so valuable they want a full-time membership.

So once the trial is up, you will have the chance to continue your membership.

How much does that cost?

When I teach live weekend workshops, people pay $1,500 or more per ticket to learn my survival secrets.

But you won't have to pay anywhere near that.

To be honest, it was hard to come up with a price for this. You can't get regular survival and self-defense updates and mini-intelligence "briefings" from ex-CIA officers anywhere else.

I thought about $100/month because that's what most people pay for cable TV. And if people are willing to pay that much for entertainment, surely their life is worth at least that much.

But I know money can be tight. So I wanted to make this affordable for everyone serious about protecting their family when the upcoming blackout hits.

So for right now, I'm slashing that price in half. You can join the Personal Protection Alliance for a mere $49/month.

Remember, we only produced 150 Blackout Survival Flash Drives. Once they're out, that's it. If you want to make sure you get one, you'll have to order it today.

[BUTTON: Send me my free Blackout Survival Flash Drive]

Sign Up Today For Your Free Survival Drive and 100% Risk-Free Access

As I said, when you order your free flash drive, you automatically get a free 14-day trial of the alliance.

If after 14 days you decide it's not for you, call 801-512-2545 or email my assistant Lisa (Lisa@spyescape.com) and we'll cancel your membership. You won't pay a dime.

That means you can spend the next two weeks reading every past issue of my newsletter and watching every training video.

Then call up on day 14 and say "Thanks for the thousands of dollars worth of training. I'd like to cancel my membership now and not pay a dime for anything I learned". We will cancel your subscription right then and there. No questions asked.

If you decide you like it and want to keep going, you'll be automatically billed $49 every month to keep it.

From there, you can cancel anytime -- no questions asked.

CLICK THIS BUTTON

[BUTTON: I want the free trial and flash drive!]

TO GET YOUR SURVIVAL FLASH DRIVE AND 14-DAY TRIAL OF THE PERSONAL PROTECTION
ALLIANCE AND ONLY PAY ONLY $4.95 TODAY

I realize it may seem odd offering access to an online membership program. You likely won't be able to access it a year from now after the blackout hits.

You'll be too busy protecting your food, water, and family from the hordes of unprepared masses desperate to take what you have.

But the Personal Protection Alliance is simply the best way I know to help you prepare and give you the life-saving information you need to survive the upcoming crisis.

It's also the only place you can get inside knowledge passed along from my contacts in the CIA, NSA, SEALS and more.

And while the CIA doesn't allow me to give specific details when they know an attack is eminent, I can say things like "Something big is going to happen next week. Be ready."

You'll know exactly what it means. And won't be caught with your pants down like millions of Americans who prefer to live in blissful ignorance of the threats we face every day.

Don't be a victim. Join the Personal Protection Alliance today.

Click the button below and become a survivor (not a statistic).

YES! GIVE ME THE TOOLS I NEED TO SURVIVE AMERICA'S BLACKOUT

NOTES

DO NOT USE

So I put together a package for the self-reliant man who wants to take his safety and security into his own hands. The man who will protect his family and country at all costs. Who will be there to rise up and rebuild this great nation after this inevitable attack strikes and leaves us in darkness and fear.

While military cyber defenses are formidable, civilian infrastructure and businesses often are targeted first and "present a significant vulnerability to our nation," Army Gen. Martin E. Dempsey, former joint chief of staff. He goes on to say cyber is a "level playing field"

The hackers have gained access to an aging, outdated power system. Many of the substations and equipment that move power across the U.S. are decrepit and were never built with network security in mind. Hooking the plants up to the Internet over the last decade has given hackers new backdoors in.

About a dozen times in the last decade, sophisticated foreign hackers have gained enough remote access to control the operations networks that keep the lights on.

Again, these are only the attacks the public knows about.

Alternate Lead

If you're like a lot of Americans, you may have an unsettling feeling that something terrible is coming.

We've become lazy, dependent, entitled.

Our debts out of control. We have more enemies that want to destroy us than ever before. The nation is divided and the heat is only increasing.

There's talk of financial collapse. An education bubble. Money evaporating. Terrorist plots.

All this unrest and distraction has caused us to ignore the sleeping dragon that has now reared its head in our direction.

Say goodbye to the internet.

Say goodbye to your electricity.

Say goodbye to your bank account.

All gone. Thanks to an invisible army thousands of miles away.

And now we're at a tipping point.

Alternate Lead: Being prepared saved my life

Alternate lead

How powerful nations fall: And why the US is poised for a historic collapse

Crushing debt. A divided nation. War on multiple fronts spreading the military thin. Corrupt politicians only looking for re-election. Oppressive taxation widening the wealth gap between rich and poor year after year.

Sound familiar?

Those are the exact conditions that led to the fall of the Roman Empire back in YEAR.

It pains me to say this, because i love this country as much as anybody, but a combination of currupt politicians and willfully ignornant voters have led us down this same path.

The Romans were toppled by Barbarians.

While nobody can match America in mano-a-mano fight, there is a weakness in our defenses leaving us as exposed as the death star. One sophisticated attack could bring us to our knees and knock us from world leaders to 3rd world in a matter of months.

The groups that hate us (and there´s a lot now) don´t need nukes, planes, ships, satellites, poison gas, or even rockets to bring our way of life to a grinding halt.

You have two jobs:

- 1) Survive the inevitable attack that sends us bck to the stone age. Save yourself, protected your family from the riots, muggings, rapits, gangs, murderers, thieves, happy to put you underground for a bottle of water.
- 2) Brave the storm long enough to rebuild America. So it can once again be the place of freedom and opprotunity for our children and their children.

ALternate lead: Greedy corporations

Greedy corporate CEOs put our nations security at risk.

This time next year, you could be bartering for water (if you´re lucky) becuae greedy rich corporations once again bring AMerica to it´s knees.

The financial collapse of 2008 that shook this country to the core could have easily been avoided. If the already rich banks weren´t so greedy and cheating the system,the housing bubble never would have gotten so big or burst.

Now, we stand on the brink of an even bigger disaster. Because cowardly politicians and rich executives are more focused on short term profit and keeping their jobs. And they are putting you, me, our friends, our loved ones at risk.

No, your money won´t evaporate like it did in 2008. This is much, much worse.

The Albuquerque journal reports hackers have "already taken passwords, as well as engineering drawings of dozens of power plants. And they could use this information to "knock out electricity flowing to millions of homes."

While our nation's cyber offense is strong, our defense is weak. Even President Trump has admitted that “Americans dominance in this area must be unquestioned. And today, it’s totally questioned.”

And despite Trump’s recent $54 billion increase in the military budget, this isn’t likely to change anytime soon.

JPMorgan CEO Jamie Dimon admits “cyber security attacks are becoming increasingly complex and more dangerous”.

Marina Krotofil, a security researcher for Honeywell Industrial Cyber Security Labs, said this attack was merely “a demonstration of capabilities.” -- not intended to cause serious harm.

Former Joint Chief of Staff, army general Martin E. Dempsey agrees, saying that cyber warfare is the only military domain where we are on a “level playing field” with the rest of the world.

"For about $5 million and between three to five years of preparation, an organization, whether it be transnational terrorist groups or nation states, could mount a strategic attack against the United States," said O. Sami Saydjari of the nonprofit Professionals for Cyber Defense.

“Hacking is very interesting. Once they hack, if you don't catch them in the act, you're not going to catch them," Trump said. "They have no idea if it's Russia or China or somebody. It could be somebody sitting in a bed some place."

Hordes of angry mobs invading homes, pillaging whatever food and resources they can find.

“We already know that the Chinese have sold those lists of information to several other countries such as North Korea, Iran, Afghanistan, Syria etc. etc.” Although my personal information is now in the hands of lots of “bad guys” I’m really not that concerned about it, as I mentioned above, because of the following reasons...

Where I live, most wells are beyond the depth of a hand pump, even if you had one. Most people in the old days (around here, anyway) had springs, not wells, which matters if you know the difference between clean water and not. And if they had a well, they had a pump that could handle it, or a small windmill to draw it up. They couldn't afford to boil their water for everything.

One night, while she was reading the book, she turns to me in bed and says, "I want my own shotgun". All I could say was, "Damn do I love you right now!". She picked out her very own 870 later that weekend.

All they'd have to do is the same thing America did to Iran's nuclear weapon program in 2010.

Our cyber agents hacked into the computer system and speed the machinery up until it ripped itself apart.

The genius of this attack is nobody in Iran's nuclear facility even knew this was happening. Because the hackers sent false data to the people monitoring the machines. To them, it looked like everything was going fine but in reality, the machinery was moving so fast it ripped itself apart.

Sending the Iranian nuclear weapons program back two years.

It's not that different to how George Clooney and his gang robbed the casino in Ocean's 11. If you remember, they sent the security room old video of an empty bank vault.

By doing this, the thieves can walk around freely in the vault, stuffing bags full of money, and the security team watching the camera doesn't realize anything is wrong. As far as they can see, the vault is empty as usual.

Now if you think hackers

But what about the average American? The patriots who love this country, their family, but weren't born with a silver spoon in their mouth and don't have the means to spend so lavishly on survival?

You may think the United States is better off than the Ukraine for defending these kind of attacks.

But we are far more vulnerable. For three reasons.

First, unlike many American transformers, they can control their generators manually. This is

And the control system that was hacked into is actually more secure than the system in the US facilities. With stronger firewall protection. As you'll soon see, our protection is not only weak, there are currently no plans to reinforce it.

And these hackers didn't go full throttle in their attack. It was merely a demonstration of power from the Russians. If they wanted to cause serious damage, they could have ripped the transformer apart.

If hackers did the to America, it would be devastating.

Because replacing them could take months -- at least.

They go on to say:

“so many attackers have stowed away in the systems that run the U.S. electric grid that experts say they likely have the capability to strike at will.”

You’ll also see “professional” bug out bags with items like glow sticks instead of flashlights. Which is silly because glow sticks are not only less effective, but the right flashlight can double as a deadly weapon that keeps you and your family safe. (One of the most popular trainings I give is how to use a tactical flashlight for self defense.)

PERSONAL PROTECTION ALLIANCE TESTIMONIALS

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

You may have a few lingering questions about joining the Personal Protection Alliance. No problem, I get them all the time.

Here are a my answers to the most common questions and concerns people have.

How Does The Money-Back Guarantee Work?

We’ve made our money-back guarantee as simple and straight-forward as possible.

When you subscribe today for $49, this will begin your 365-day risk-free trial period.

If at any time during this 365-day period, you decide – for any reason – that you want your money back, simply call this number: [NUMBER]

Or, you can contact us through the “Help” section of our website.

Typically, refunds are processed within 24-hours and take three to seven business days to show back up in your bank account or credit balance.

The other part of our guarantee promises that, if at any time you feel as though the advice we've given did not help you during a critical situation...

(for example – let's say you followed a piece of advice from The Jason Hanson Newsletter during a storm and it didn't work)...

Contact us and we will cancel your subscription and pay you $49.

For this second part of the guarantee, it's important to note...

Although it does not have an expiration date – you must currently be a member of Spy + Survival Briefing in order to request to take advantage of it.

Are You Really Ex-CIA? I Thought You Guys Couldn't Talk About What You Do?

Yes – I really am ex-CIA.

It's not some made-up line I use to sell products (or to get my wife to marry me).

Being in the CIA isn't how the movies and television portray it.

Aside from the wildly popular "I could tell you, but then I'd have to kill you" trope, the fact is that I have to ask permission from the CIA on what I can and cannot share.

Everything that I share through our newsletter and other training has been approved by the CIA (they know what I'm doing).

That sometimes means I have to be "spotty" with my information, such as saying "You may want to prepare for this, I have some sources that tell me an attack is occurring".

Although I can warn you, I unfortunately am not able to name many of my insider sources.

What Happens After My Subscription Expires?

After 365 days, we will automatically charge your credit card on file for a brand-new year. And you get to keep this low introductory rate of $49.

Of course, you can choose to cancel anytime before (or after) that.

What If You're Wrong And The Lights Stay On?

I hope I'm wrong.

I hope the Chinese take their foot off the pedal. Or our government steps up and finds a way to secure our grid.

But even if this threat comes and goes, the skills you get from the Blackout Survival Flash Drive and Jason Hanson Newsletter can help you in all kinds of crisis.

From economic collapse, to natural disasters, to home invasion or fighting off attackers in a Wal Mart parking lot.

By subscribing to the Jason Hanson Newsletter, you ensure you get the most up-to-date survival and intelligence advice you can get.

Of course, if you feel the information didn't benefit you if the attack doesn't happen – you can always get your money back with no questions asked.

But make no mistake: we are on the brink of war.

But unlike this war won't be fought and won with soldiers or bombs. And will only last a day.

Whether we survive or collapses into chaos depends on everyday Americans like you.

Really good copy

Not only do we have no defense or plan, it could be years, maybe decades, before we could even think about retaliation.

Former Defense Secretary Leon Panetta says this attack would “Paralyze the nation.”

A 2008 congressional report suggests only 1 in 10 Americans would survive within a year of an attack like this due to starvation, disease, and societal breakdown.

But like the experts who tried to warn congress about the rise of radical islam terror attacks before 9/11, or the ones who warned of a devastating housing market crash in early 2008, those with inside information sounding the alarm are being ignored.

The reason why is simple: Corporate greed and inept politicians like Obama.

There is one industry that's left us exposed and vulnerable (shockingly, not finance). But they are more focused on quarterly stock prices than national security and our children's safety.

And corrupt politicians are more focused on re-election than doing their job. As usual.

These groups don't care because they already have their survival plan. The politicians have massive survival bunkers paid for by your taxes. And I know of rich people with yachts captioned by Navy Seals that will carry them to the Caribbean when disaster strikes.

And the average coddled American doesn't want to hear bad news.

They would rather live in willful ignorance, happily watching the Kardashians and playing with their iPhones, than face the cold hard facts that war is inevitable.

If the government acts fast, they may be able to put defenses and plans into place in the next 5 years or so. But if you've been watching the news closely and know how to "connect the dots" between seemingly unrelated incidents, you'd know it's likely this attack will happen before 2017 is over.

I'll show you exactly what I mean. And prove why there's nothing you, me, Trump, or anyone can do to stop it.

So it's going to be up to you to protect you and your family. If this crisis occurs -- as many top experts say it's "inevitable" -- this will be the only way to ensure your children and grandchildren grow up with anything close to a safe, happy future.

We've used this ability ourselves. American hackers broke into an Iranian nuclear facility and forced the machinery to go into overdrive and destroy itself. Successfully setting their nuclear weapons program back 2 years.

The genius of this attack is the hackers also fed false information to the people monitoring the machines. So nobody in that plant had a clue anything was wrong!

Politicians asleep at the switch
Force Americans to take matters into their own hands

In 2010, top officials including former Secretary of Defense James Schlesinger and former CIA Directors John Deutch and James Woolsey, wrote a private letter to the House Committee of Energy and Commerce. It said:

"The grid is extremely vulnerable to disruption by a cyber or other attack. The consequences of a large-scale attack on the US grid would be catastrophic for our national security."

Want to know what happened to the proposed legislation for fixing the problem?

It's been stuck in the senate for 7 years.

Congress, as usual, can't put petty differences aside to take care of the important issues.

This likely won't change anytime soon. Democrats are so bitter about Clinton losing the election they are hell-bent on opposing anything republicans want. Even at the risk of national security.

This is simply how the government operates. They ignore warnings from top experts and do nothing to prevent an attack. It's only after an attack occurs they realize action must be taken.

Just look at 9/11. After the the attempted World Trade Center Bombing, it was clear they were out to destroy our way of life.

What did congress do? Nothing. They waited until the most tragic terror attack in our nation's history. Then took action and created the Transportation Security Administration.

Had they taken this risk seriously and created the TSA in 1995, then 9/11 could have been avoided.

Another example happened early this year with California's Oroville dam. It was old, outdated, and in needed a measly $6 million in repairs. Which is nothing for California's $171 billion budget.

But lawmakers don't care about preventing crisis. So they did nothing. And in February 2017, the dam burst. This forced 200,000 innocent Americans to evacuate their homes and causing an estimated $200 million in damages.

Today we're in the same position as we were before 9/11 and the dam break. But this time, every single American household is at risk.

And government is failing horribly to protect us at all levels.

The Department of Homeland Security has no plan in place for what they'd do if a blackout occurred.

And state governments aren't prepared any better.

New York for example, has 21 million emergency meals to feed people in a major crisis.

Sounds like a lot, until you realize they're feeding 15 million people. So everyone gets a lunch and a half before they're left to fend for themselves.

The lack of government protection and plan makes it no surprise that if such an attack were to occur, the outcome is absolutely dire.

SUBHEAD HERE

Normally, you'd think nobody would be stupid enough to launch any attack against the US.

Because we can unleash a barrage of missiles and cyber attacks of our own to destroy any government.

But that's what makes cyber attacks so scary.

Hackers can mask their location so we have no idea who is behind the attack. It's like President Trump said:

"Hacking is very interesting. Once they hack, if you don't catch them in the act, you're not going to catch them. They have no idea if it's Russia or China or somebody. It could be somebody sitting in a bed some place."

Now, the truth is you can catch the culprit after the fact. But it is very difficult. And even if you have a good idea who's behind it, it's hard to be 100% sure. Which makes retaliation almost impossible.

It's entirely possible Iran could launch an attack on us, make it look like the attack came from Russia, and send us into a costly and unnecessary war.

But I don't think that will happen. There's been no evidence that Iran can launch such a sophisticated attack. And the Russians are too dependent on us economically.

Remember that massive data breach I mentioned before? The Chinese stole the identity of thousands of government workers -- including myself.

Because I prepared for such a disaster beforehand, it wasn't a big deal.

One thing I did well before the attack was put a freeze on my credit report. Even though lots of "bad guys" had my information, this freeze meant they couldn't take out a major loan. (I highly recommend you do this. It's simple and can help keep your finances safe from cyber criminals.)

Rising Murder Rates in Big Cities

A sampling of cities where the number of murders so far this year is outpacing the same period last year.

	2014	2015	PERCENT CHANGE
Milwaukee	59	104	76 %
St. Louis	85	136	60
Baltimore	138	215	56
Washington	73	105	44
New Orleans	98	120	22
Chicago	244	294	20
Kansas City, Mo.	45	54	20
Dallas	71	83	17
New York	190	208	9
Philadelphia	165	171	4

Take the group of hackers who, in 2015, stole $80 million from the New York Federal Reserve and Bangladesh Central bank. The largest bank heist in history.

Could you imagine waking up tomorrow with your bank account at $0 because some hacker stole it right out from under your nose?

A Cyber Pearl Harbor

Every week, there's a new story about internet hackers compromising our privacy and security.

Low-lives spying on us through our computer cameras, shutting down the internet, stealing identities and wiping bank accounts clean.

But all those stories are nothing compared to one cyber threat America faces today.

Imagine waking up one morning. You pick up your phone that had been charging all night.

It's dead.

You go to the toilet and when you finished your business you discover it won't flush.

You soon learn the power is out for the entire country.

Nobody can withdraw cash, use a credit card, or put gas in their car.

You notice a nasty smell from your fridge as your food is starting to spoil.

No big deal, it'll be fixed soon, right?

Fast forward 8 weeks -- it's still out. By now, most towns across America begin to resemble The Walking Dead.

You go to Wal Mart hoping to find food, water, or ammo. But the shelves have been stripped bare. Bodies of people who were trampled, stabbed, and even shot lay by the doorway.

With limited resources and no food or water coming in, it's every man for himself. The desperate, unprepared masses will stop at nothing to get what they need to survive.

For 8 weeks, you and your family have stayed safe in your home. But violent gangs have begun raiding the homes around you. It's clear you won't be safe there much longer.

This is the America we will find ourselves living in if and when hackers who hate America decide to take down our power grid.

Former secretary of National Security, Janet Napolitano, was asked what the odds were that a group hackers could knock out our power grid. Her answer: "Very high. 80%, 90%... very, very high."

This is the future of warfare. Attacks like this are becoming more and more common.

Two years in a row, Russian hackers disabled a Ukrainian power substations and shut off the power. In the bitter December cold, 225,000 innocent people had no light or heat.

The hackers could have done much worse if they wanted. But this was merely a show of force.

If they wanted to cause serious damage, they could have destroyed the generators completely.

They know if the attack happens they'll be safe. The government used taxpayer dollars to build massive bunkers to keep politicians safe and well-fed during a crisis like this. And their rich friends already have boats captained by navy SEALs set to take them to the Caribbean.

My time in the CIA helped me discover the best ways to prepare for a catastrophe like this. Which I'll share with you now.

3 mistakes Americans make when preparing for a crisis -- and what to do instead

In my 7 years teaching people how to survive crisis situations, I've seen the same mistakes over and over -- even among seasoned preppers.

If you make these mistakes, you'll be a sitting duck when the power goes out.

Here are the most common mistakes I see, and the exact steps I've taken to keep myself and my family safe.

Mistake #1: Ignoring the fundamentals of survival

Most Americans don't have any plan for a major catastrophe like this. No reserves of food, water, guns, ammo, or medicine.

I have a year's supply of food in my house and XX gallons of water. In my workshops, I suggest attendees get a minimum of 30 days of food and 60 gallons of water stored in their house.

PIC OF Jason's food storage

Aside from that, you also want to have a 5-gallon bucket, 2-3 water filters, and to know exactly where the closest river or stream is to your house. (You want multiple filters in case one breaks or is used up. It'd be smart to have multiple buckets for too for the same reason.)

This way when desperate friends and neighbors turn to you for a life-saving drink, you won't have to turn them away.

Since most people don't have food or water reserves, it's likely society will turn violent very quickly. As people will fight for every last scrap of canned tuna or bottle of water.

So you'll also want to make sure you and your loved ones are protected from murderous mobs anytime you step outside.

Having a gun and knife is a no-brainer. But as I learned in the CIA, there's a big difference between knowing how to handle a gun on a range and knowing how to use one in real life crisis situation.

When violent mobs are closing in on you, every second matters.

Take a fraction too long to draw or reload your weapon, miss your target by a quarter inch, and you could lose everything.

So advanced, high-level firearm training for short and longer range weapons is a must for keeping yourself and your loved ones safe. (I'll show you exactly how to get that for free in a moment.)

#2) They focus on the wrong things

Even when people prepare for a disaster, they often go about it the wrong way.

For example, they may buy a traditional first aid kit for emergencies. This is fine, but what if you have a loved one who needs a particular medication? You'll want to stock up on those as well and customize your first aid kit based on the needs of your family.

Or you'll see someone spend hundreds of dollars on state-of-the-art survival equipment (water filters, a tactical flashlight, solar powered chargers, etc.) Then put it all in a cheap bag that rips and leaks easily, causing the gear to get destroyed by water damage.

As important as it is to have survival gear, it's crucial you keep it in a sturdy canvas bag. This doesn't have to be expensive, but canvas is woven tight enough to keep your gear safe from ripping or being flooded.

Finally, a big mistake is people don't test their equipment before using it. You don't want to wind up in the wilderness, surrounded by frightened family members who look to you for answers. Only to fumble with the directions on how to use your hand-crank radio... then ultimately find yours is defective and doesn't work.

#3) They assume their house is safe

Hopefully, you'll be able to spend the blackout in the safety of your home.

But as people get desperate and supplies get low, it's entirely possible your area will become too dangerous to stay in. Especially if word gets out there's food and water where you are.

So along with preparing your home, you also want an evacuation plan. Something more solid than a vague idea you and your friends will meet at your place and drive down to a cousin's farm (who may or may not know you're coming.)

You want a specific evacuation plan you and your loved ones can recite back to you. This includes where to meet, when, who to expect, and to know who is in charge of what supplies.

You'll also want a "bug out" bag". A bag loaded with the gear you need to survive if you have to leave your home in a flash.

I have multiple bug out bags in different locations for myself, my wife, and my 3 young children. If things get too dangerous and I'm not around, they all know where to go to get what they need to survive until I find them.

One thing most people forget, which FEMA recommends, is you to have backups of things like passports and birth certificates in your bug out bags. Since paper rips easy and gets destroyed when wet I've put copies of all that on a flash drive, stashed away in my bag ready to go.

I wouldn't want to find a place with electricity and safe passage to another country only to be turned away because I didn't have my little girl's passport available.

Right now, you probably have a lot of questions. You may be wondering?

What do you put in this bug out bag?

What can I do to keep myself and family safe from riots and home invaders?

How else can I ensure my family and I survive the inevitable blackout?

Giving you all the information you need to survive a blackout would take a lot more time. And I want to make sure you have access to this life-saving information when America goes dark.

If he saw us as important to their economy, you'd think he'd also mention the positive trade and diplomatic relations he has with the US, right?

Truth is, he barely mentions the US at all. As if we've been wiped off the map.

Instead of talking about positive trade and economic relations, he had chilling lines like this:

"Those who follow [the China Dream] will prosper, while those who resist it will perish."

In a 6 month period in 2016, Japan had to deploy fighter jets 407 times in reaction to Chinese planes invading their airspace. Which is twice as many deployments that were needed in all of 2015.
